Bringing the Future Closer

Chairs

The strength of a great institute resides in its medical professionals. Their work fuels progress in the ability to treat, understand and prevent heart disease.

Endowed chairs help the Heart Institute attract and support top-calibre physician and researchers. They also provide long-term support to areas of research and academia identified as a priority to the Heart Institute. Chairs bring prestige and recognition to our researchers and the Heart Institute.

Fellowships

Endowed fellowships support Canada's upcoming generation of cardiovascular experts, and provide selected physicians and post-doctoral staff the opportunity to become researchers and academicians.

Our fellows represent the Heart Institute's contribution to a new generation of Canadian researchers, performing innovative research that moves from bench to bedside and directly benefits our community of patients.
